Dear Parents/Carers

Please see the attached Ofsted report for our school. We are very pleased that the inspector has recognised all the hard work and progress made since our last inspection. The school has moved from the report in 2019 having fourteen key areas for improvement to just four.

Although remaining requires improvement overall, we now have three of the five areas graded good. We are particularly proud that the inclusive nature of our school has been recognised. The key areas we focussed on from the last inspection, Reading, Early Years, Behaviour and Personal Development are now all graded as good.

All the areas for improvement identified in the new report were already on our school improvement plan prior to the inspection. These areas will continue to be our focus for the coming months with some already nearing completion.

Should you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact either Mrs Barmby or I. Thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely

Alison Buddle

Executive Headteacher
